100 Braid St studios exists to help people live lives of courage in harmony with their values thru creativity. Everything at the studio is designed to help artists make a living at their art. In the fall of 2018, renovations started on the third floor of the 100 Braid St building. An additional 28 new studios were created, making us the largest working art studio outside of Vancouver. New artists started moving in between January to April 2019. We are a close-knit community who support, inspire and collaborate together. Our waiting list is currently at 130.
